LEARNER DRIVER?

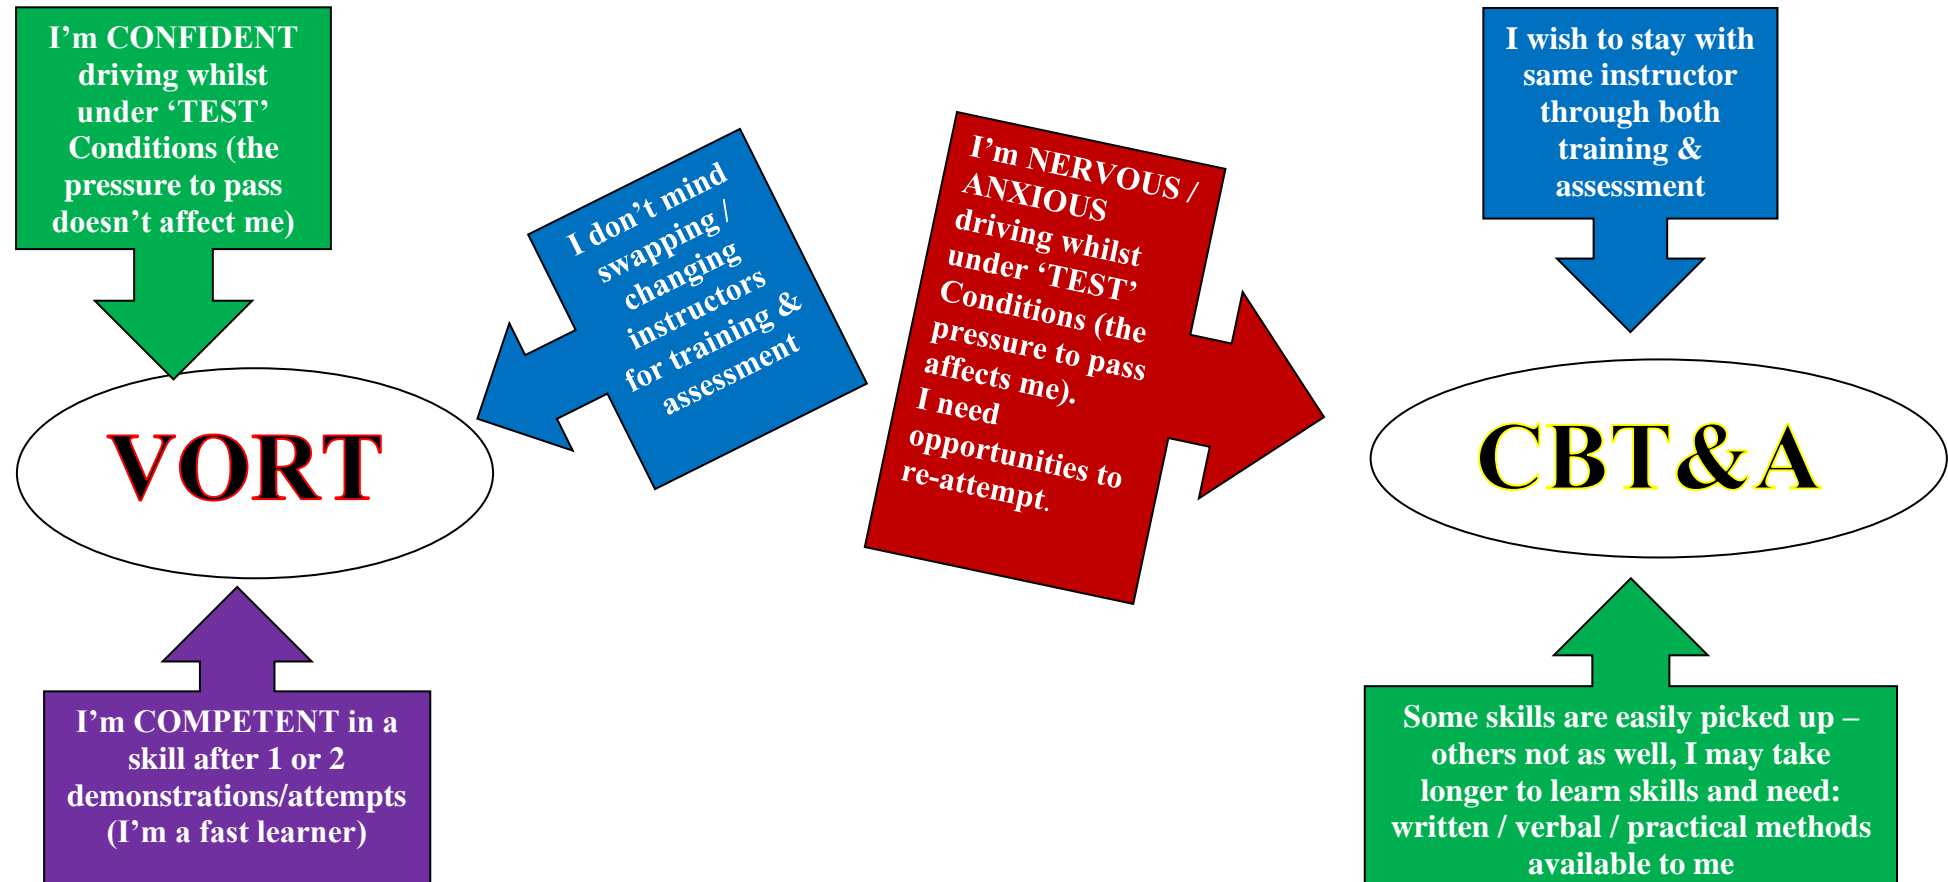

New Learners can opt for either method depending on confidence and preference of instructor.

LEARNER LICENCE / HAVE HELD PREVIOUS LICENCE?

Learner licence holders that have already previously held a licence can opt for either method depending on confidence and preference of instructor – however commonly opt for the VORT method as they are not new to driving on the road but just need a refresher before attempting a test.

INTERNATIONAL PERMIT?

International permit holders that have already previously held a licence can opt for either method depending on confidence and preference of instructor – however commonly opt for the VORT method as they are not new to driving on the road but just need training on Australian Road Law before attempting a test.

About the free lesson: Keys2drive is providing a free driving lesson to learner licence holders (overseas licence holders are not eligible), which brings the learner and their parent/supervisor together with a Keys2drive accredited professional driving instructor.

The Keys2drive free lesson aims to change the way learners drive by changing the way they learn, helping them to becoming a safer P-plate driver.

The free driving lesson introduces the Keys2drive practical learning approach to learner drivers and their parent/supervisor, and offers examples of how it can be used when learning to drive a car. Participants get lots of great advice and information about how to practise and what to aim for.

Many new drivers believe they are better at driving than they actually are. Keys2drive aims to give them a much more accurate and realistic picture, helping to build a foundation for lifelong safe driving.
